RELIEF COHE AT LAST.

WISNER'S Washing Machine, Potented Sept. 26th, 1854, is a large! b with sine dited on the bustron, also on the aderside of the rubber. It stands on a stool, and weigns about 25 lbs; is simple and handy and has been thoroughly examined and tried by thousands at the West within the past year, who pronounce it to be the hest labur saver ever offered to the public. It has been tested sudislently long to prove that, when wor it has been used properly, it will tell a letter story for itself than I can communicate.
Now it a trail, and you will be entirely savisied of its superior merit.

Rufus Choate.

Since the death of Webster, there has been no man who has died, who is so universally and so sincerely mounted as Rufus Choate. The newspapers of the South and West this day, and for days to come, will be filled with warm sulogies to his memory fresh from the heart. His was no Boston fame merely. The influence he exerted upon the public mind was not confined to Massachusetts or to New England ; but it was as wide and as broad as the country, and from one end of it to the other will go a thrill of sorrow when the sad announce, ment, Rufus Choate is dead, falls upon the

The loss that has been sustained by this death has been the prominent topic of conversation since the sudden telegraphic despatch from Halifax was made public, Thurs_ day morning. We have heard several individuals express their profound regret that they had never heard this celebrated advocate, nor ever even seen him. To those who were accustomed to see him almost daily, and to whose ears his voice was a familiar sound, it seems strange to hear Bostonians-knowing as all do how frequently and extensively Mr. Choate was before the public—sny they have neither heard or seen him. To such, let us endeavor to sketch his appearance.

For some years past, it has been his habit of passing up Williams Court, on his way from his residence to the Court House. We are standing with the reader upon the steps of the Herald building. A man somewhat above the medium height passes by. He is dark visaged and sallow; his large dark, melancholy looking eyes, under which his flesh hangs like two little bags. His mouth is a striking feature in the countenance. His hair is dark and curling. His face is wrapped in profound meditation and his eyes seek the ground as he walks carelessly along. The first took at that strongly marked physiognomy in presses one that no ordinary man is pass ing by. But this impression is not derived from any aid of dress, for truth to say, he was far from being attentive to his appare nor to any extraordinary vivacity which hel displayed, for he looked ordinary, when upon the street, languidacementure appearance and upon his brow. No stronger would suspect that that care laden, languid man, was the great orator, the nervous enthusiastic, impassioned advocate, the man emineut for his social qualities, the keen enjoyer of with the embediament of so much that was attractive, loving and lovable in a man.

If it were asked us which of his qualitie, showed preeminently the nature and the heart of the man, we should answer unreservedly, his unpretending kindly manners to all who came in contact with him -Whether among Senators, among the learned and eminent of the land, or among any other class of his fellow citizens, he was niways kind, conciliatory and deferential. There was no pretension in him. When not employed in his profession, or not engaged before the public, he never intruded an idea that would tend to make the humblest man in his company feel otherwise than that he was with an equal.

It was when Mr. Choate afoused the powers of his mind to meet a case in Court, that you could see the man worthy to stand at the head of his profession. Notwithstanding the unnumbered times he has addressed listening thousands, he never rose to speak to a jury or an audience without a visible emotion in the commencement of his addresses. His hands would man in tramore so much that it has sometimes been difficult for him to turn over the pages of his brief. But in a little while all this would change and you would shortly see the electric sympathy with which he bound himself to the jury, completely established. In orations he was grand and his speech resembled what e have imagined must have been that of "Those ancients, whose resistless cloquence. Wielded at will that fierce democracy, Shook the arsenal and full ined over Greece. To Macedon and Arlazerses' throne."

To hear him on his test themes was like listening to the sound of a trumpet. He had a voice of wonderful flexibility, and he could alternately awaken the deepest sym 'pathies and the loitiest emotions of natriotam. He was eminently a national man .-His love for the Union was a sentiment deep rooted in his heart. We particularly denlore his death just now, when the people are preparing to abandon the sectional views which have too much prevailed, and on the broad and noble principles of Ponular Sovereignty, to return to their regard for the Union, as to the ark of our political safety. In such a juncture, how much Mr. Choate's persuasive cloquence will be miss-

One blast upon his bugle horn Were worth a thousand men."

Mr. Choate practiced the virtue-it is a virtue-of early rising, and it was his custom to take long and rapid walks while the dew was yet upon the ground. There are many whose avocations require them to be stirring early, who can recollect how frequently they used to see him passing up Washington street to the neck, or around and across the Common, the Public Garden and on the Mill Dam, with a pace almost as rapid as that of an Indian runner, ousness. It manifested itself singularly. On those occasions with which he was familiar, that is, when called upon to make an address, it would take possession of him-But on occasions where the courage and nerves of a man are most severely tried, he at Lowell. Mr. Choate was to deliver a political address in Huntington Hall. The hall was crowded to excess, among whom were several hundred ladies. As the orator proceeded, the audience stamped their applause, when suddenly a crash was heard and the floor of the hall gave way bodily, at least six to eight inches Consternation and confusion prevailed. By judicious care, the hall was emptied of its living load and a fearful accident was averted, for it was afterwards found, that safety depended solely upon a single and frail supporting rod. Amidthis scene of wild excitement, Mr. Choate was calm, and possessed, and by his counsels prevented the multitude from crowding to the outlets of the hall, a natural movement on the part of a terrified people, but one which might have proved fatal.

Renwood Library .-- We learn with pleasme that the Directors of the Redwood Library have, (in addition to opening it every day, from 9 A. M. to 8 P. M.,) voted to keep it epon three evenings each week, say Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings, until 10 o'-clock. This will give our citizens, and visitelocir. ors to Newport, an opportunity to spend an hour or so in this interesting place, meet their friends and acquaintanees, and see the wonderful renovation of this venerable structure, its collection of paintings, and its many other attractions. The admission is free on these occasions, but we carnestly urge upon our me-chanics and young mon, to avail themselves of the opportunity to secure shares, on the favorable terms now offered; and thus secure so desirable a piace to spend their leisure hours, as well as to enjoy the privilege of taking out books from so valuable a Library as this is, even new, and with the large addition of new books to be made this senson, it will be doubly

Mr. Before :—I ask leave to correct an article in your paper of to-day, concorning the firement's visit on Saturday.

It there reads,—"The two companies marched to the United States Hotel, under escort of the Tree of the States Hotel, under escort of the Tree of the States Hotel, under escort of the Tree's, where they separated," &c., &c.

I beginner to say that "the Tree of the Tree's of the Tree's, and to go at once from the Tree of the Hotel; but they sure go to the Tree of the Hotel; but they sure go to the Tree of the Tree

It is even so as "Narragansett" saith; though Captain Tow, of the Tigers, did, in front of the Threes' house, name an invitation that had Captain Tow, of the Ligers, did, in front of the Threes' house, name an invitation that had been extended to them by the Twos to visit them at their house, and did assign the United Steamer Eagle's Wing, Cromwell, MBedford. States Hotel as the place of rendezvous of the Company. The substitution of the Twee for the Sevens was a clear "slip of the pon;" we knew better and intended to have so stated .-We trust this will be satisfactory to those we have unintentionally misrepresented.

GRAND DIVISION S. or T .- The Grand Division of the State of Rhode Island held a session in Newport yesterday, arriving in the steamer Governor, about 11 o'clock, A. M .-They were met at the boat, and escorted un in to the city, by several members of Atlantic Division, No. 6, of this city, in their individual capacity, and by a regiment of hackmen Their meeting being held with closed doors the proceedings do not transpire.

Accompanying them were quito a number of ladies and gentlomen not members of the or-ganization, who came down for the excursion. The boat returned at 4 o'clock.

The steamer Ragle's Wing came in at Stevens' Wharf, yesterday, her usual berth at the head of Long Wharf being occupied by the steamer Governor. In going away, on her upthe-river trip, she came ucar taking the when with her, and did draw one of the posts over to an augle of forty-five degrees, by the strain of her lines in turning. Those looking on, expected to see the whole north side of the wharf. opposite the post, care in.

Move Os !-Two organ-grinders were in town, yesterday, levying contributions on our people for the creakings of their vile boxes.

It will be seen by advertisement in ther column that the milet heat Dragonet makes an excursion to Block Island to row, leaving about 2 o'clock, A. bi. There are supple accommodations on heard for those who may choose to go on board to-night. On arriving at Block Island, the boat will land her parsengers and cruise a few hours, when such as prefer to do so can remain on board.

To Let.

The fine steamer Eagle's Wing made an excursion to Rocky Point, from New Bedford, yesterday, touching at Newport, arriving heart. ost as rapid as that of an Indian runner, touching at Newport, arriving here about 12 We have spoken of Mr. Choate's nerve o'clock. She brought a party of about 1000, about 200 of whom came ashore at Newport. A band of music accompanied the excursion.

It has often been said that "figures won't lie;" it may be so, but they sometimes come very far from the truth. In our notice, yesterday, of the contemplated excursions of the steamer Jenny Lind, the simple substituwas self-possessed, calm and all himself. tion of a 5 for a 2, made a whole centence un-A notable illustration of this fact occurred intelligible. The Jonny Lind will leave at 2 o'clock for Rocky Point.

VIRTUE.

The sturdy rock, for all his strength,
By raging seas is rent in twain;
The marble stone is pierced at length
With little drops of drizzling rain;
The ox doth yield unto the yoke;
The steel obey th the hammer stroke;

The stately stag, that seems so stout, The stately stag, that seems so stately By yelping hounds at buy is set;
The swiftest bird that files about Is caught at length in fowler's net;
The greatest fish in deepest brook Is soon deceived with subtle hook;

Yea! man himself, unto whose will All things are bounden to obey, For all his wit and worthy skill Doth fade at length, and fall away; There is no thing but time doth waste— The heavens, the earth consume at last.

But Virtue sits triumphing still Upon the throne of glorious Fame;
Though spiteful Death man's body kill,
Yet hurts he not his virtuous name.
By lite or death, whatso betides, By life or death, whatso believe. The state of virtue never slides.

We learn that there are some grea bargains to be had now in the clothing way at the celebrated establishment of F. B. Baldwin, 70 and 72 Bowery, New York. We are assured that the balance of his Spring etous, which was one of the finest in the city, is selling at exceedingly low figures. Those who study economy in dress, and desire good fitting and stylish garments at low prices, will do well to give Mr. Baldwin a call and see what is regime or. We are assured that the balance of his going ou.

The dying advice of Prince Metternich to Francis Joseph, in relation to the present war, is said to have been, "Defeat is not destruction—a city, a fortress may be rebuilt—an Empire never. Listen to no advice, hearken to no propositionsof peace —and, above all, enter into no treaty what-ever either with the Bonapartes or the house of Bayoy."

ROBERT SEATLE,
Sheriff's Office, April, 23, 1859. 122 27 a3. A Steam Heating Company, Pawlucket, R. I.

This method of warming both public and private buildings, as has been proved by actual experience for the last four years, is the cheapest, safest, most pleasant and healthful of any other known method. It leaves the room heated in this manner entirely free from the gasses, dust, smoke, &c., which are continually arising from stoves and hot air furnaces. The heat produced is sufficient to warm a cold building in the coldest of weather, and is also mild, pleasant and aggeeable, having the softness of summer air; and to the consumptive and invalid it is invaluable.

W. C. BRYANT, (of the Tribune and Post), are familiar with the following facts and ericumstances:

Mr. ELDER was actively engaged in the last Presidential campaign, and his intense labors, day and night, broke down his health, which had not been good for many years: this was followed by a severe cough and hiseding from the lungs, which continued down to last December, when he commenced using one of these Freparations. For the previous two months he bled every day, sometimes quite profusely, and his cough was terrible. In munith's time he was able to be about through the city during all weathers, and in less than two months after beginning to use the remedy, he was engaged in canvassing the city, and was on his feet nearly all the time facernoon, conversing with hundreds of persons; and transacting a large amount of husiness. SOYER'S SULTANA SAUCE, Intended for the Austrian Market, and to be FOR HOT OR COLD DISHES OF ALL sold

THIS most delicious sauce, originally made by the renawmed SOYER for the "Roform Club" of London, is now maoufactured by the well-known house of CROSSE & BLACK-WELL, from the original recipe. It has reciped the highest praise from all the .eading English journals, and is recommended by that high medical authority, the London Lancot, as affording great nid in cases of slow and weak indigestion. The manufacturers simply ask for it a trial, knowing that it must add to the already large consumption, as none ever discontinue to use it. SOLE IMPORTERS, No. 338 Broadway, N. Y.

This DELICIOUS TOWIC

especially designed for the use of the MEDICAL PROFESSION and the FAMILY, possesses those intrinsic medicinal properties (Tonic and Diuretic) which belong to an Old and PURE GHIV. The business of manufacturing specious gias, and offering them as beverages, under the titles, "Aromatic"—"Cordial,"—"Medicated," etc., has become so common, that the public are justly suspicions of nearly everything that is offered under similar forms, and the trade has thus been brought into disrepute. It has remained for our house (established in 1778) to supply the pressing popular need, and to inaugurate a new era in the history of the Trade. We trust that our astablished reputation - founded upon eighty years of experience - abandantly vindicates our claim to public emildance.

A comparison of "Bininger's Old Journet Dack Gin" with others bearing stander names, will candida its superiority, and make other Caution supercosts.

SAVE YOUR CARPETS WEAR AND MOTH.

IMPORTANT TO LADY HOUSE-KEEPERS.

Mr. J. R. HARRINGTON would respect-fully inform the indy reader that he has, after long and tedious experiments, succeeded in producing an article which has, from time immemorial, been much needed by every louselceper in the land. It is that of a peculiarly constructed

CARPET LINING.

This article is a new invention, and has been patented. It not only entirely protects Carpets fro... moths and other ineeds, but it makes the Carpet soft to the tread, acts as a mulfier of sound, is a non-conductor of heat, thoroughly and effectually prevents damphess striking through, and want is of the greatest desideratum of all, it makes your Carpet last twice as long as if straw or paper were used. This lining is very low in price, and will at less save FIFTY PER CENT: on the cost of the Carpet. The
